

GÖRLITZ sells and operates leading technologies for the measurement and collection of energy (electricity, gas, water and heat) and supplies qualified metering data to the business systems of their customers (utilities and industrial concerns in Europe).

We supply true and standardized values for the contract based processes, billing, commerce or acquisition and create knowledge as basis for a better use of energy, more energy efficiency and finally low energy costs.

You are the project manager and prime contact for the technical questions of our customers. You are analytical and able to cope with our complex hardware and software environments, you can fine-tune system configurations. Your main focus lies with the project work with the customer. As such you will install data base systems, train our customers and care for system acceptance. You will also provide telephonic and written support. For bespoke projects you co-ordinate the system requirements with R&D.

Based in Antwerp, our GÖRLITZ Benelux operations is looking for a motivated to cover projects in the Benelux, but also in other European countries.

Application & Project Manager (M/F)

You have good knowledge of PC and EDP environments, specifically of Windows MS® operating systems and database systems like Oracle® or MS SQL-server®. You are familiar with technical data communication and Internet technologies, such as TCP/IP and FTP. You should be familiar with electrical engineering and electronics.

Experiences in the area of the energy supply are an advantage. You should actively speak and write Dutch, French and English. Understanding German is a major advantage.

You'll be part of a European wide team of experienced colleagues. You will be trained in Koblenz by R&D and Product Management and assist on customer sites to build up experience.

You'll find more information on GÖRLITZ AG and the solutions portfolio on the homepage of the enterprise. Please, find out extensively!
